

Mold Research Web Resources

In my research, I have discovered some very informative web sites. I'm passing them along in the hope that you'll research and learn more about this spreading threat to our homes and buildings. RE/MAX of Buckhead @ Brookhaven / Andrew Malone does not necessarily endorse all the opinions or facts contained in these sites, and I encourage you to independently verify any information contained in these web sites.

For your convenience, listed below are several companies who can assist you with the mold problems in your home or building. The Industrial Hygiene Consulting companies can assist you with additional testing and coordinate the removal of materials contaminated with mold. The Abatement Contractors may or may not be able to do additional testing but all may perform the actual removal work. Also, please check your local yellow pages for additional listings (asbestos removal).
